Outlook bright for '53 with

Strong Alumni Leaders

IT HAS been often said that any organization is only as strong as its leaders. If this is true then the Auburn Alumni Association can look forward to the coming year with a great deal of enthusiasm as the Association is to be guided during the coming year by a group of loyal Auburn men who will give generously of their time, energy and leadership in helping the Association as it strives to build a Greater Auburn.

Who are the officers of the Association? What are their duties? What are their backgrounds? How are they elected to office? What authority do they have?

Such questions as these are certain to arise when alumni examine the leadership of the Association. Many alumni do not know the answers. However, answers must be given to these questions for all alumni if they are to obtain real interest in the work of the Association and its role in the building of Auburn.

25 officers necessary

THE newly-elected president of the Association is Clyde Collins Pearson, '26, who was elected at the annual Association meeting at Homecoming on November 8. He is aided in the administration of alumni affairs by a six-member Executive Committee and the past president of the Association who serves in an ex-officio capacity on the committee.

Serving also as key leaders of the Association are the vice-presidents. Sixteen vice-presidents were appointed by President Pearson and approved by the Executive Committee at a meeting in Auburn on November 23. The vice-presidents work with the President and the Executive Secretary in organizing local Auburn clubs and in other activities which further the purposes and objectives of the Association.

Elected at homecoming

OFFICERS of the Association are elected at the annual business meeting held on Homecoming Day. Under the two-year rotation plan adopted by the Association in 1948, three members are named to the Executive Committee at the annual business meeting. The past president of the Association automatically becomes an ex-officio member of the Executive Committee for the length of the term of his successor.

At Homecoming the presidency and all existing vacancies on the Executive Committee are filled in an election. A nominating committee submits names of alumni to fill the vacancies. Nominations can also be submitted from the floor and all current dues paying members at the meeting are eligible to vote.

Duties of the officers

ADMINISTRATION of all affairs of the Association must have the approval of the president and the Executive Committee. The president presides over the meetings of the Association and the Executive Committee. He also appoints various committees and fills vacancies on the standing committees provided by the constitution of the Association.

Appointed by the president, the vice-presidents shall be selected as follows: "one from each congressional district of the State of Alabama; one from among the active members of the Association who is also a member of the faculty of A.P.I.; one from among the remaining active members residing in Lee County, Alabama; and not less than two nor more than 12 to be chosen from the active members residing out of the state of Alabama."

Another officer of the Association is Executive Secretary Joe Sarver Jr., '37, who administers the program of the Association as outlined by the president and Executive Committee and who performs such duties as organizing clubs, raising funds, representing A.P.I. at various functions, and looking after the daily problems of administration that must be dealt with. Mr. Sarver also serves as secretary of the Auburn Educational Foundation. Custodian of the funds of the Association is the treasurer, W. T. Ingram, who is the college business manager.

New vice-presidents

NEWLY-appointed vice-presidents are:

First district, Ken Lott, '41, Mobile; second district, Rex Sikes, '31, Luverne; third district, Hamp Morris, '34, Geneva; fourth district, Harry Hooper, '36, Selma; fifth district, Ed Taylor, '39, Gadsden; sixth district, Milton Roth, '37, Tuscaloosa; seventh district, John Wilson, '46, Hackleburg; eighth district, Frank Crow, '26, Florence; ninth district, James E. Vance, '36, Birmingham; faculty, Dr. James E. Greene, '33, Auburn; Lee County, David Canon, '38, Opelika; out-of-state members, Cecil Stokes, '28, Nashville, Tennessee; Luther Smith, '29, Jackson, Mississippi; John Lewis Reese, '24, Pensacola, Florida; Dr. Herman D. Jones, '24, Atlanta, Georgia, and Arthur Sanders, '29, Washington, D. C.

Thus alumni can see something of the procedure for electing Association officers as well as the duties and responsibilities of their officers. But what of the present officers? The following sketches of the men now leading the Association should give you an idea of the type of leadership which is administering the affairs of the Association.

CLYDE COLLINS PEARSON, '26, president—Clyde received the Bachelor of Science degree in architecture in 1926. He is a member of the Montgomery architectural firm of Pearson, Tittle and Narrows and was one of 39 American architects who were recently advanced to fellowship in the American Institute of Architects.

Active in the work of the Alumni Association for a number of years, Mr. Pearson is president of Montgomery County Auburn Club and served on the Executive Committee for three years. He has made many trips to alumni meetings during recent years and plans to attend many more during his tenure as president.

He is also active in Montgomery civic affairs, having served in numerous offices in the Alabama chapter of the American Institute of Architects. He was recently nominated as a director from the Gulf States Region in the A.I.A.

He is married to the former Ida Mae Adams and they have a son, Clyde Jr.

Designer of many outstanding buildings in the South, Mr. Pearson's firm designed Auburn's School of Architecture Building and the Union Building now under construction at Auburn.

ALLEN RAYMOND TRAMMELL, '25—Received the Bachelor of Science degree in agriculture in 1925. Mr. Trammell has been an active and enthusiastic member of the Alumni Association and served as chairman of the Barbour County Building Fund Drive in 1948.

Engaged in farming and cattle raising at Cross Creek Plantation near Eufaula, Mr. Trammell is active in the Barbour County Cattleman's Association as well as numerous civic activities.

He is married to the former Annabel Dismukes and they have two daughters and a son. Mr. Trammell was elected to the Executive Committee at the annual meeting in November. He succeeds Ken Lott Jr., '41, of Mobile.

Many Benefits

AS a dues-paying member of the Auburn Alumni Association where will my $5 go? How will it be used? What is the purpose of dues? What does the Alumni Association mean to me and to Auburn? What is the office staff in the national headquarters at Auburn giving in return?

These are all questions which every dues-paying alumnus should ask when he pays his dues. These are questions which we want to answer for those alumni who have not paid their 1953 dues. The answers to these questions show the importance of the $5 to Auburn, to the Association and to you.

2,741 have paid

AT THE present time only 2,741 alumni have paid 1953 dues to help defray the cost of operating the Association. Included in this number are 262 Life Members of the Association.

Thus only 2,741 alumni out of the total of more than 22,000 now in the Alumni Office files are paying. This small percentage of alumni are actually at the present carrying the full responsibility of the Association. They are also receiving the benefits of their membership.

Staff of six

THE present office staff at the Association headquarters is composed of the Executive Secretary, the editor of The Auburn Alumnews, and four full-time office workers. These people are in the Auburn office to serve you. Your payment of dues not only makes the present service possible, but also opens ways to even greater services.

Who are the members of the staff at Auburn and how do they serve you?

Secretary's duties

JOE SARVER, '37, is the man responsible for carrying out the Association's program as Executive Secretary. Appointed to his position in March, 1951, Mr. Sarver administers the program that is outlined by the Association's Executive Committee.

The Executive Secretary handles such important matters as arrangements for club meetings, the annual Homecoming program and Association fund drives. He serves as a liaison between the alumni and A.P.I., and performs the countless number of every day duties which the job demands.

Members receive Alumnews

ALL members of the Association receive The Auburn Alumnews "restricted edition" eight times a year. All alumni receive the "general edition" such as this issue, four times a year.

The editor of The Alumnews Walter Albritton, '53, was appointed to the post in December, 1952. As editor of The Alumnews, Editor Albritton is faced with the responsibility of keeping all members informed of the progress at Auburn and of the news of fellow alumni.

The alumni share in this responsibility not only by their payment of dues, but by their constant supply of news which reaches the editor's desk each month. The editor is responsible for writing, editing, proofreading, copyreading and publishing all material that appears in The Alumnews.

The Alumnews has won national acclaim from the American Alumni Council. It is the monthly liaison between former students and Auburn. It is a publication which makes as its goal the fair and responsible presentation of all the aspects of life at Auburn and among its alumni. This is made possible by the dues-paying members of the Association.

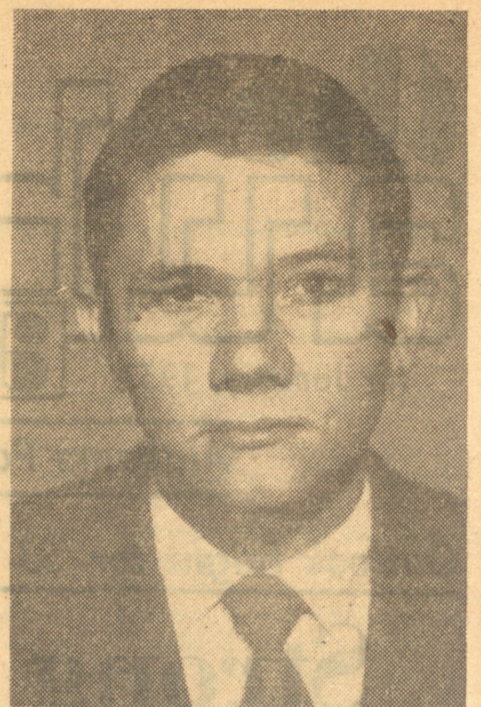

Efficient office staff

THE tedious task of sorting and filing the letters, questionnaires, news items other information that comes into the Association's office is taken care of by an efficient office staff headed by Pattie Haney, alumni records supervisor. Clerical assistants are Martha Bennett and Eudene Brown Albritton. The trio of efficient workers handle all correspondence, typing, filing, address changes, and perform the thousand-and-then-some duties required to keep the office routine functioning smoothly.

Another vital member of the Alumni Office staff is Mrs. Frances Tarver, the circulation director. Her responsibility is the addressing of all copies of The Alumnews as well as all other Alumni Office mailing pieces. She also maintains an up-to-date file to be used in the addressograph machine.

KEY MEN in the work of the Auburn Alumni Association are Joseph B. Sarver, '37, now in his second year as Alumni Executive Secretary, and Walter Albritton, '53, recently named editor of The Auburn Alumnews

Crawford leaves Alumnews

Albritton Named Editor

THE appointment of Walter Albritton, '53, junior in education from Wetumpka, to the position of editor of The Auburn Alumnews was announced recently by Executive Secretary Joseph B. Sarver, Jr., '37. Albritton succeeds Ed Crawford, '51, who has edited The Alumnews since November, 1951.

Albritton, who has served as editor of The Plainsman during the present academic year, resigned as editor of the student newspaper to take The Alumnews position. Crawford resigned to edit The Montgomery Examiner, weekly Montgomery newspaper.

In commenting on the appointment of Albritton, Executive Secretary Sarver stated:

"We are indeed fortunate to obtain the services of Walter Albritton as editor of The Alumnews. His work on The Plainsman as well as in other campus journalism activities makes him a highly qualified person to handle The Alumnews. Although we regret to lose the services of Ed Crawford, we are glad to welcome Walter Albritton to the alumni staff."

Writes for state papers

IN addition to serving as editor of The Plainsman, Albritton has also been the correspondent for The Birmingham News, The Birmingham Post-Herald, and The Montgomery Advertiser while at Auburn. He is a member of Pi Kappa Phi social fraternity and was a member of Squires, sophomore honorary.

Named in Who's Who

THIS past fall Albritton was recognized for membership in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He is also a preministry student and upon graduation at A.P.I. expects to enter theological school at Emory.

Crawford edited 14 issues of The Alumnews. His special high school edition of 1952 won the "Surprise Award" in the American Alumni Council judging. Before joining the alumni staff, Crawford served on the news staff of The Decatur Daily.

Past Plainsman editor

As an Auburn student Crawford served as editor of The Plainsman for seven quarters. He was a member of Sigma Nu, Omicron Delta Kappa, and the Student Executive Cabinet.

Numerous services

THUS you can see who is at work for you at the office in Auburn. Also you have a brief idea of the services these staff members perform for you and for Auburn. The payment of your dues is an important phase in the maintenance of this program.

As a dues paying alumnus you will receive The Alumnews each month. Other benefits of membership include an attractive "War Eagle" bumper sticker for your car; the 1953 membership card, football ticket priority, and most of all, the satisfaction of knowing that you are doing your part in developing a stronger Alumni Association and thereby a stronger Auburn.

Auto Bumper Stickers for Alumni Members

THIS attractive bumper sticker is being given to all alumni who pay their 1953 dues. Equipped with an adhesive back, the tag can be applied to the bumper by removing the protective paper from the back. Designed in bright orange and blue colors, the sticker is fluorescent and can be seen at night. Members who pay their dues also receive a year's subscription to The Auburn Alumnews. Send in your dues today and receive your bumper tag and The Auburn Alumnews

Auburn's Mission of Service

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following report to the A.P.I. Board of Trustees was made by President Ralph Draughon at the annual meeting of the Board at Homecoming on November 7. This report is a clear analysis of Dr. Draughon's views on Auburn's present and future. It points out not only the progress that has been made at the institution, but also the problems which must be faced in the future.

President Draughon spells out the factors which he feels have contributed to Auburn's growth. Although this part of the report does not use the facts and statistics about the institution that can be found in the detailed report to the trustees, it makes clear the philosophy which the Board of Trustees, President Draughon, and each of the three divisions of A.P.I. are using as a guide in leading Auburn in its mission of service to the people of Alabama.

November 7, 1952

I HAVE the honor to transmit herewith a digest of the annual reports of all divisions and departments of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

It is an interesting report, revealing the problems and the progress, and the prodigious labors that have transpired here during the past year. I think that we have continued to grow and improve, but I would be the last to say that we have accomplished all that we sought to achieve. I believe that most of us who are employed in the operation of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute understand that it is in a dynamic state of development and progress.

I am sure that you, as members of the Board, through your decisions and enactments, have the same feeling that we have come far in recent years in our unified effort to provide the personnel and the facilities with which to carry out the great mission of service of this Land Grant University.

Auburn outstanding

I THINK that you can join us in honest pride over the fact that the Alabama Polytechnic Institute today is looked upon with respect as one of the outstanding universities of the South. It is this growing prestige, this recognition of its worth, that accounts for its unprecedented popularity among the high school graduates of Alabama. In that connection, indications now lead us to believe that next year's freshman class will be as great as this year's record-breaking entry.

It is this popularity that is sobering in its portent although satisfying in its promise. We feel that the great developments that have transpired here are the result of a number of factors which I would list as follows:

1. The realization that the Alabama Polytechnic Institute is an educational instrument rather than a political instrument of the state of Alabama.

2. That, as an arm of the state, it is subject, of course, to political forces but that the best possible political program of an educational institution is that of a job well done, without partisanship, and without commitments.

3. That in order to do a good job the institution must be free from internal dissension and strife.

4. That in order to achieve unity of effort, personal ambitions for place and prestige must become subservient to the greater and more constructive ambition to build here a great center of learning for the people of our state.

5. That, whatever the ills of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, they are due not to the machinations and designs of other educational institutions, but rather to our own failures.

Decatur; G. H. Wright, '19, Auburn; Paul S. Haley, '01, Jasper; Miss Berta Dunn, secretary to the president; W. J. Terry, state superintendent of education; Frank P. Samford, '14, Birmingham; E. A. Roberts, '21, and President Ralph B. Draughon, '22, who made his annual report at the November board meeting

6. That we can solve our problems only by working together toward the achievement of the great purposes of our charter, "the education of the agricultural and industrial classes."

7. That the solution of our problems and the achievement of our goals depend upon a strong faculty and staff, a strong student body, effective programs of teaching, research, and extension, and a united alumni.

8. That the Alabama Polytechnic Institute will continue to grow in influence, character, and prestige so long as it continues to provide sound instruction, needed research, and helpful extension services to our people.

Reason for growth

I THINK that it is through this purpose and willingness to seek out our weaknesses and plan together to correct them; to labor ceaselessly to strengthen the institution in all phases of its complex programs; to accept responsibility and to build morale; that we have accomplished much in recent years.

We have met crises and survived them. We have planned fearlessly and creatively for the future. We have worked as a team—staff, faculty, students, and alumni—to build a Greater Auburn.

Sought to cooperate

WE HAVE not sought in any fashion to weaken or handicap any other educational institution. We have made every effort possible to work in complete harmony and understanding with the other colleges of our state and of the South.

WE HAVE CONSISTENTLY SUPPORTED THE PROGRAMS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS. WE FEEL THAT WE HAVE TOO MUCH TO DO THAT IS VITAL TO THE FUTURE OF OUR STATE TO WEAKEN OUR EFFORTS IN BOOTLESS RIVALRIES AND CONTROVERSIES.

We believe that Alabama and the South are moving into a great and promising period of industrial growth and development that will call for better educated men and women in almost all phases of activity. We feel that there is greater promise for the youth of our state than ever existed before—if they are trained and educated for the new tasks of private and public responsibility that await them. Therefore, we believe that all of the colleges of Alabama have more to do than they can accomplish in providing leadership in the numerous professions and vocations of tomorrow.

Aim for the best

THEREFORE, we feel that all of our efforts should be aimed at providing

In important conclave

Chemists Meet At API

ONE OF the important meetings held at Auburn during the fall quarter was the Southeastern Regional Meeting of the American Chemical Society. Because of space limitation, The Alumnews was not able to carry a story on the meeting at the time it was held, but feels that a report on the convention will be interesting to alumni.

The October meeting brought more than 340 chemists and chemical engineers from all over the southeastern area to the Auburn campus. It was the first time that the conclave had been held on a college campus. Speakers from 19 states and the District of Columbia read 115 scientific papers during the convention.

President Ralph B. Draughon welcomed the group at the opening session, after which a major address by Dr. David T. Mowry of the Monsanto Chemical Company was heard. Another of the outstanding speakers was Dr. Henry B. Hass of the Sugar Research Foundation.

While at Auburn, the group toured nearby points of interest such as the Pepperell Manufacturing Company, the U.S.D.A. Soils Tillage Laboratory, and Tuskegee Institute. Also on the three-day program was an illustrated lecture on scientific crime detection by Dr. C. J. Rehling, state toxicologist of Auburn; a barbecue, a musical program, and a dramatic production, "Outward Bound," staged by the Auburn Players.

Technical sessions

PARTICIPATING in the numerous technical sessions were Dr. E. O. Price, of the A.P.I. School of Chemistry; R. W.

the best possible instruction in the courses offered here, in order that Alabama men and women may become the scientists, the technicians, the leaders in a changing and highly technological economy.

To that end we labor, and to those purposes we work and plan without animosity or envy and with a genuine desire to work in harmony with the other colleges and universities in the South.

The Board of Trustees has supported us in our planning, and I would be remiss if I did not express the gratitude of the staff and faculty for your efforts in our behalf.

Richburg, of the State Regulatory Service at Auburn; Dr. C. A. Basore, head of the department of chemical engineering at A.P.I.; Dr. Vernon C. Jamison, of the U.S.D.A. laboratory at Auburn, and Dr. James E. Land, A.P.I. professor of physical chemistry.

Dr. Ernestine Frazier and Dr. Edwin Hove, both of Auburn, presided over biochemistry and nutrition sessions. Interesting papers were presented by Dr. H. E. Sauberlich, Dr. R. W. Engel, and Mrs. H. D. Alexander, of Auburn, and by Howard C. Elliott, of the University of Alabama.

The section on industrial and engineering chemistry was under the direction of R. E. Wingard, of the department of chemical engineering at A.P.I. Among others who took part were Dr. C. A. Basore, Mr. O. C. Moore, Mr. Niels Engel, of the University of Alabama, and Mr. Theodore Swann, of Birmingham.

One of the major events of the meeting was the presentation of the Southern Chemist Award to Dr. Allan T. Gwathmey, of the University of Virginia. The gold medal is presented each year to a chemist who has performed distinguished service to the profession and has focused national attention upon the scientific progress in this section.

Dr. C. R. Saunders, dean of the School of Chemistry at A.P.I., was general chairman for the meeting, and Dr. J. D. Capps was program chairman. Chairmen of other committees were Dr. J. E. Land, registration; Dr. S. H. Nichols, housing; Dr. J. T. Long, publicity; Prof. P. P. Powell, space and equipment; Dr. G. A. Schrader, finance; Mr. Frank W. Powell, exhibits, and Mrs. C. A. Basore, ladies entertainment.

'Hard work rewarded'

DEAN SAUNDERS, in commenting on the convention, stated: "The staff and students of the A.P.I. School of Chemistry felt that their hard work was rewarded by the many commendations received from the visitors, and by the residents of Auburn, who were impressed by the large number of chemists and chemical engineers, and made to realize more fully the impact of the contribution to Southern scientific progress which is being made by the chemists and other scientists on the Auburn campus."

The Roll of Active Alumni

AUBURN'S alumni membership goal for 1953 is for 23 percent of all alumni to become active members of the association.

"23 for '53" county and state rating should not be too difficult to attain, since 2,741 alumni have already joined for 1953. Those 1,300 alumni who have forgotten to renew their membership for 1953 are urged to do so at their earliest convenience.

Loyal alumni increased the 1952 membership by more than 1,000, and with a little effort on the part of every alumnus, that increase can be topped in 1953. Let's make "23 for '53" a reality!

Many alumni have joined since The Alumnews went to press. Each month additional members will be listed as they are received.

In this issue of The Alumnews a full report on the activities as well as a listing of the members of the Auburn Alumni Association is carried. On the following pages are listed the names of the 2,741 paid members of the Association.

Listings are given by states, and by counties in Alabama. See if your name is on the list.

If not, you have not paid your 1953 alumni dues. The Association needs your support to continue to give you service.

Alumni Self-Analysis Chart

All colleges have alumni. All colleges have alumni of the types described in this chart.

This chart is strictly for your personal and confidential use. While studying it for your own self analysis, keep the following thoughts uppermost in your mind:

"My college will be here long after I am gone. Its service to the state and the nation continues through the YOUTH that have followed and will follow after me through its Halls of Learning. Its value to the youth to come will depend in part upon the type alumnus I am."

To the best of my ability, I judge that () I am the YAK-YAK type.

Everything the college does that does not conform with the way I think it should be done is wrong. I don't mind spreading the word around either, because I'm the only one who knows all the answers. I don't pay my alumni dues because I owe my college nothing and my criticism of its affairs, I furnish with no charge. I think that makes us even.

() I am the YIK-YAK type.

I really feel toward my college about the same way YAK-YAK does, but I'm smarter than YAK-YAK. I think it's good business to cash in on that loyalty stuff and yell the old yell when I'm in a big group of alumni. I know it's even better business to stand up at a FUND RAISING MEETING and lead it off with a, "Put me down for a hundred." Silly alumni they don't know that I'm just "down" for it. YAK-YAK and I don't contribute any MONEY, no siree!

() I am the YIK-YIK type.

After YAK-YAK sits down, I jump up and shout, "Put me down for fifty." Then when the secretary duns me, I write back that he must have gotten the wrong initials . . . but then . . . I do kick in a pittance.

() I am the YAK-N-BAK type.

I deal strictly in personalities. I pay my dues only if they have the right alumni secretary. I spend my time YAKing if they don't have the right secretary, and I don't pay my dues during that time. Often I use the following factors in judging the secretary; they are my likes or dislikes of:
() the Coach () the President () the Administration of INSTRUCTION () the Administration of EXTENSION () the Administration of RESEARCH () or ANYTHING else that I can't think of right now.

() I am the YO-YO type.

If every body says things are UP, then I'm UP, joining, and giving. But, brother, if somebody says that things are DOWN . . . then I'm DOWN. I don't join. I don't give.

() I am the LOYALTY UNLIMITED type. Financially I can't afford more than a gesture of devotion that will be recorded in Heaven and the alumni office.

() I am the KIND HEARTED LOYAL type. But due to circumstances I have a very tight budget. However, my budget is kind enough to let me join my alumni association.

() I am the PROMPTLY LOYAL type.

I back my college and I realize the value of an alumni association. I pay my dues early in the fiscal year and keep informed through the alumni publication.

() I am the FORGETFUL LOYAL type.

I also, back my college and realize the value of an alumni association. I put my dues notice aside to take care of it tomorrow. Much, much later I discover that I have not mailed my dues check. Because I know that I am forgetful about such matters, I often pay TWO YEARS at one time in order to receive the alumni publication without interruption.

() I am the LEVEL HEADED LOYAL type. I may also have the co-title of LOYALTY UNLIMITED, KIND HEARTED, PROMPTLY, or FORGETFUL. I pay my alumni dues. My interest in the affairs of my college may vary. My advices may be often or seldom but they are constructive. Always, my guiding principle is : . . NOT WHO, BUT WHAT IS RIGHT.

An alumnus discusses his

Easiest Month To Pay

Let's see now, the easiest month to pay my alumni dues would NOT be:

JANUARY — Too many bills left over from Christmas.

FEBRUARY — Income tax next month, and the 12th is the wedding anniversary.

MARCH — Income tax.

APRIL — Nothing left after income tax, and the oldest daughter's life insurance due the 21st.

MAY — Again, "Nothing Left," but that doesn't stop the mother-in-law's birthday. Last year it was a washing machine.

JUNE — Three birthdays this month. Oh! will they never stop!

JULY — Vacation this month. I shall not pay another bill.

AUGUST — Too busy paying up all the bills that piled up while on "VACATION"?

SEPTEMBER — Buy school clothes for two (2) girls (wish I had put in an order for boys instead.)

OCTOBER — Another birthday, but we'll skip this one, it's mine. Guess just my life insurance will be all that's possible this month.

NOVEMBER — Early Christmas buying—get all of the things this month. The wife wants a fur coat, and I've put it off for four (4) years already.

DECEMBER — Christmas, and the taxes due on the house.

Oh! What's the use? Here's $5.00 and that takes care of the entertainment for this month.

Forever and ever,
